

ARE YOU ASPY?

KNOW YOUR CHILD'S RIGHTS.

Children need freedom to be their own person and to have a sense of self. When parent's over-protect and over-control, kids have been known to lie more, become more suspicious of authority figures, and struggle to become independent.

Do kids have freedom?

65% of parents spy on their child's smartphone by checking what sites they have been on, who they have been texting, and their location. Many do this until their child is 18 or older. It wasn't always like this. These parents had parents too, and their parents did not truly know where their kids were after leaving the house. They did truly know who their kids talked to. And they did not truly know what their kids read, watched, or were exposed to. Are parents today taking away their kids freedoms?
